

【Shareholder and Investor Relations】

《Basic Approach》

The purpose of the IR activities of the Furukawa Company Group is to build relationships of trust with all shareholders and investors, to promote understanding of our business, and to earn appropriate valuations of our corporate value in the stock market. In addition, we are utilizing opinions gathered through IR activities in our management, such as by providing feedback to management.

Please refer to the following page about the Group's IR policies:

《Primary IR Activities》

< Communication with institutional investors and analysts >

We make sure we ① hold results briefings (twice each year, at the end of the fiscal year and the second quarter), where the president gives direct explanations, ② hold individual IR meetings, and ③ distribute and disseminate annual reports, etc. as regular IR activities for institutional investors and analysts.

< Communication with individual investors >

For individual investors, we ① make sure the website is complete and up to date (the individual investor page, pages such as management policies and IR library, and special content such as the advertising video website and “Understand the Furukawa Company in 5 Minutes!”) and ② ensure that reports to shareholders contain complete information.
