

Furukawa Company Group Product Safety Basic Policy and Action Guidelines

(Established February 1, 2007)

Product Safety Basic Policy

Our Charter of Corporate Conduct sets out the goal to provide products and services that are safe and worthy of our customers' trust; accordingly, the Furukawa Company Group accepts the responsibility to assume our customers' perspectives and take steps in all stages from development and design to manufacturing, sales, services, and disposal to provide products and services that are safe and consider the environment and recycling.

Product Safety Action Guidelines

All employees of the Furukawa Company Group follow the Action Guidelines below.

1. Comply with domestic and international laws, standards, and regulations on product safety, and strive to provide safe products and services.
2. Strive to develop safe products that cause no harm to our customers' health or property while also promoting activities to ensure that they use our products properly.
3. Listen when customers have information to provide, strive to predict risks, and endeavor to promptly address and disclose information about any defects that occur in our products or services.
4. Strive to standardize our safety technology and build product safety assurance systems, aim to continually improve the technology and systems, and foster a corporate culture that places the highest priority on product safety.
